

TcHmiReadMouseCoordinates

This sample is a sample project with a JS Code Behind file that shows how to read the coordinates of the mouse cursor after a click in a control. You can detect the absolute screen coordinates (screen) or the coordinates inside the control (client). The coordinates in the sample are printed in the browser console.

Please follow the comments in the sample.